

Please don't waste time, money, resources, etc. on implementing "features" that limit fair use and will be circumvented anyway. The software industry learned that it was bad business in the early 1980s and changed their business model to ship software without copy protection. Intuit learned the lesson again last year. Those who have not learned from history (e.g. RIAA and the Motion Picture Industry) are still trying to repeat history to the frustration of consumers!

We'd ALL save money by avoiding fruitless efforts! Please DO NOT BOTHER with Digital Television copyright protection. It will save the industry money and the savings will be passed onto the customer!

Thanks.
